DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for gas turbine engine components, does not reasonably provide enablement for any workpiece. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

The claims embrace an invention which contains any known workpiece, which could/can be selected from literally thousands. It does not appear to be feasible that any workpiece would function in the present invention. Further, for one skilled in the art to reproduce the present invention (which must be possible, if the specification is adequate), there would clearly be undue experimentation to do so in an attempt to figure out which workpieces work and which ones do not.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 1746

4. Claims 1, 2, and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Monteath (3350223).

Montheath Jr. teaches cleaning cooling systems of internal combustion engines using mobile cleaning device 10. In col. 8 and col. 9 bridging, Monteath teaches connecting the hoses of the device 10 to the engine block and radiator. Monteath teaches flowing air (col. 8, lines 68-70) followed by pumping hot alkali cleaning solution, ceasing the flow of the alkali solution, followed by purging with air, then water, ceasing the water flow and then purging with air. The hoses are then disconnected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

7. Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Monteath (3350223).

Monteath fails to teach cleaning oil scavenge tubes of a gas turbine engine. However, it would have been within the level of the skilled artisan to have modified the method of Monteath to include cleaning oil scavenge tubes since oil scavenge tubes are engine components and further since Monteath teaches using the portable device for cleaning the engine block, radiator, heater, and any auxiliary components of the engine.

8. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Monteath (3350223) in view of Fletcher Jr. et al. (5845684).

Monteath teaches the invention substantially as claimed with the exception of a filtration device. Fletcher Jr. et al. teach a portable device for flushing a coolant system, the device further containing a filter assembly 30 for filtering contaminants. It would have within the level of the skilled artisan to have modified the method of Monteath to include a filtering means as taught by Fletcher Jr. for filtering contaminants.

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Bartos teaches cleaning a turbine engine. Larson teaches a mobile cleaning unit. Booth teaches a portable cleaner. Mooney teaches a method of cleaning oxygen lines.
